THE SET-UP SO FAR

FROGTOWN is a small town out in the rural areas of the country. You'd never think to go here or look here for anything at all. It's a peaceful little place on the edge of some swampland, a long drive from the nearest big city. However, like anywhere in the world, technology, The Net, Navis, and Progs fill much of the machinery of this sleepy little back-country town. There's farming to the east, in the dry lands, and the swamp is part of a nationally protected animal sanctuary.

SUMMER TIME brings about the reason for Frogtown's name, the annual frog migration. The reasons for the migration are still not completely understood, but every year the frogs emerge from the swampland to make their way through town towards the large lake to the north. However, this year, the frogs seem to be more panicked and are migrating far earlier than they usually do...

MACHINERY ALL OVER TOWN has been seriously malfunctioning and breaking down. From household appliances to blipping power grids to cars and more, something is going wrong throughout Frogtown's networks. Navis investigating have found the problem but don't understand it. It appears as though all of the Progs and integrated Navis are being code-jacked and are being turned into...

CRABS are invading the town! Progs are being transformed into Crab Progs! Navis are being fused into Crab Forms! And now a small army of crab-sized attack drones are making their way out of the swamp with harmful intent! They are tracking down any servers that currently contain crab-ified code, ripping the server boards out and transforming them into MORE CRABS!

THE SWAMP is hiding something. Something dangerous has embedded itself deep within the swamp. Whatever it is, the crabs are clearly coming from the center of the swamp. As the town panics and tries to fight back against this natural assault, it's up to you to save Frogtown before everything becomes crab...

NARRATIVE HOOKS

- There have been rumors all over town recently citing a strange looking Navi moving freely between systems. The only evidence of any strangeness has been a concerning amount of sand, possibly from the use of a SandStage chip.
- The system infiltrations have been perpetrated by the infamous CrabCrab.CRAB, a Navi who wishes to inject the entire Net with Crab to help their dwindling, endangered population.
- The Animal Sanctuary has been taken over by Pr. Onita, who has aligned himself with CrabCrab.CRAB and the eco-terrorist organization NOSTALGHIA, a group that believes Humanity and The Net are exclusively damaging the Earth and believe the world will be better once ALL THINGS are reverted to their original or natural evolutionary state. Reject Modernity, Embrace Monkey.
- GM Note: Make liberal use of WhirlwindToss, SandStage, an Grabby chips around to simulate Crabs At The Beach. ZapNet as well to catch the crabs!
